

COVENANT WORLD RELIEF Ministry Update

Summer 2010

In it together...

Covenant World relief prepares for another busy year

Clean water. Education for refugees. A community center serving the needs of entire families—babies, children, mothers, fathers, grandparents. HIV/ AIDS education. Seeds to plant and land to farm. Empowering women. Human rights advocacy.

This is just a sample of the impact Covenant World Relief projects are having around the world. Twenty-one new community development projects have just been recommended by the Commission on Covenant World Relief and approved by the ECC Executive Board. These ministries are in addition to several other ongoing projects and CWR's disaster response.

These projects all embody one of the core values of CWR: partnering with others. Partnership empowers local ministry, increases local involvement, reduces overhead, and facilitates immediate response to the most vulnerable. By working with others, CWR is able to leverage human and financial resources to have a more significant impact.

Through partnership and collaboration, we are all transformed more into the likeness of Christ. We need one another.

Together with churches and Christian organizations throughout the world, Covenant World Relief is loving, serving, and working together with the poor, the powerless, and the marginalized in the name of Christ. CWR

Love for Muslim neighbors in Central Asia

"JB" IS ONE OF ONLY A FEW CHRISTIANS in his region where 99% of the people are Muslim.

The natural tendency for small groups of believers is to isolate themselves from the Muslim majority. However, several years ago JB saw the plight of his poor Muslim neighbors and began a sheep project for those with few or no animals.

Covenant World Relief provided much of the funding and this year will provide new funding to expand the program to more families in the area because of the success of the first project.

Christ followers are often marginalized and persecuted, but the community has recognized JB's leadership skills, compassion for the poor, and integrity. Amazingly last year JB was elected as the leader of the community and a representative in the national parliament.

The Kingdom is like a mustard seed growing in Central Asia. CWR

CWR Staff: It takes a village...

HOW MANY STAFF do you think Covenant World Relief has? As we travel and ask this same question, the answers vary but are always higher than reality.

We currently employ only two people: David Husby, director and Chrissy Palmerlee, department services manager for Compassion, Mercy, and Justice who shares her time with a variety of ministries.

Though our staff is small, we are able to do all that we do because of the work of many volunteers. We want to especially thank:

- our partners around the world who oversee and manage development projects
- other ECC staff, especially those in finance and communication
- the Commission on Covenant World Relief
- our volunteers and interns for all the ways they give their time and talents.

We are thankful for the wonderful team we have and the significant ways you each give of your unique gifts. Thank you! If you are interested in volunteering or getting more involved, please let us know. CWR

Haiti Update: Relief, recovery, and development continues

MORE THAN ONE MILLION DOLLARS has been contributed to CWR for relief, recovery, and development in Haiti. Two-thirds of the funds have been disbursed. CWR will use the remaining funds and those that continue to be raised for recovery and long-term development in the months and years to come.

Some highlights of the ongoing work in Haiti include:

- 2,700 families participating in the Plant with a Purpose program to reduce food insecurity and provide for agricultural recovery
- 184,000 people have received medicine and supplies
- 21,000 people have received medical treatment
- 400,000 meals provided
- 750,000 gallons of water distributed
- 12 wells created
- 48,000 tarps distributed for emergency shelter

Dr. Cindy Hoover, an ECC missionary in Mexico, will be volunteering her services with our partner Medical Teams International (MTI) for a month this summer.

David Husby is a member of the World Relief Haiti Task Force which will make decisions about the ongoing recovery and development work in Haiti over the next several years.

The work in Haiti continues and we appreciate your ongoing support and prayers. For more information on how you can help the effort in Haiti, visit www.covchurch.org/cwr, or email covenantworldrelief@covchurch.org. CWR
