Hear from Cov. Kids How Your Gifts Bless Them

Colombia

"My name is Jennifer Soto, I am 21 and have a 7 year old daughter. My daughter is studying at Central Integral Education

Pacto. I have been financially struggling after separating from my husband; this has affected my ability to provide my daughter with good education. When I told the school about my situation, they understood my limitation and were patient with my payments. They offered my daughter a 50% scholarship and waived her monthly fee. I am overwhelmed with the enormous kindness that has been shown to us. The cost that I need to pay is now within my ability. I am grateful that my daughter is able to go to a school that school emphasizes equally on academic excellence and living out human values. My daughter loves studying at the school, where she is loved and cared for. Gracias (Thank you) to all who have helped move the program at El Pacto."

South Sudan

"My name is Koat Muon, I am 9 years old. My mother was a Deacon and served at a Covenant Church in Malakal Upper Nile State. Both my parents were killed eight months ago in the ongoing civil war in South Sudan by angry soldiers. I was rescued by my uncle who carried me on his back as I injured my leg during the war.

You can bring hope...

Your $25 monthly donation provides scholarships for children, teenagers, and young adults, so they may participate in programs that meet their educational, social, physical, and spiritual needs. After I was rescued and brought to the Pugnido Refugee Camp, ECCSS placed me in school. I am in second grade and get to learn in both English and my local language. My fees are paid for and I was given exercise books, pens and shoes. In my last test I ranked second in my class. I hope to become a doctor or counselor and help those who have lost their parents and people who have disabilities. G̃aaɛ. C̃i l̃bcdä t̃ɛɛth (Thank you) for your gifts that are supporting me and many other children like me in South Sudan"

 India

"My name is Mangal. I am 8 years old. I study at Hindustani Covenant Church's non-formal school. My family is poor. My father is a woodcutter. He goes to the jungle everyday to cut wood that he can sell and get some money. Sometimes the forest guards stop him from entering the forest and chopping any tree. Such days are the longest and hardest as we don't get food to eat.

One day my teacher told me that we received a gift from Covenant Kids who are friends with HCC. I could not believe it! It was like a festival. I received textbooks, crayons, a pair of slippers, and my family received a few kgs of rice and wheat. My family was thrilled as we finally had sufficient food to eat for a few days. I love walking to school in slippers and with new school supplies. शुक्रिया (Thank you) to friends who have filled our days with happiness!"

 DR Congo

"Hi! My name is Deborah I'm 10, and I live in Congo. I'm a girl like any girl. I do my chores, I go to church and I play with my friends. But life is not always easy for a kid in Congo. Most children lose their moms and dads by age 5. Many children can't go to school, don't have access to clean water and are malnourished.

Covenant Kids Congo powered by World Vision is helping us move forward. When you sponsor a child with Covenant Kids Congo you help kids like me go to a good school. You help kids who are malnourished get strong. You give kids access to clean water where before there was none. You help our parents learn skills to better take care of us, and let us focus on more important things - like being a 10 year old kid from Congo! Merci Mengi (Thank you) for your support."

GRIEVING SONGS OF CHILDREN

For the past 16 months South Sudan has, yet again, experienced political unrest and internal displacement. Our sister church the Evangelical Covenant Church of South Sudan (ECCSS) has reported much violence to women and children during this civil war. Survivors are brought to refugee camps to receive care and safety where the churches are still meeting. Covenant Kids partners with ECCSS to support children who are brought to refugee camps and provides them with holistic care. Please join us in supporting these children. Your donations provide children with education, nutrition and a safe place to play, connect and receive Christ's love.
