SPRING 2017

Responding to the Syrian Crisis in Aleppo

We have been working in Aleppo, Syria, for several months through a local partner to provide relief in the midst of heartbreaking conditions.

The destruction of Aleppo is enormous and thousands of families have had little choice but to flee the city as heavy airstrikes and fighting continued with little relief. With winter setting in, the bitter cold also became a significant threat to those who had lost their homes and fled. Immediate needs for these families have been to keep them warm and fed.

We have been able to reach out to a trusted, local partner in Aleppo to distribute food aid to families fleeing the violence. Our local partner distributed 300 food packages, including infant milk formula, that will sustain these families for at least the next two months. With an average of five people per family, we were able to provide emergency food for 1,500 people in urgent need.

Our local partner is also providing cash for medical care for fleeing families. In addition, we are distributing hygiene and women's dignity kits.

Our local partner has an effective distribution team and system with a strong network, and moving forward, they have significant capacity to continue to address these needs. We are encouraged and thankful for the opportunity to reach these vulnerable families.

Your gifts are still needed. Give now to CWR Syria relief on our website or by check mailed to the CWR office.
