COVENANT
BENEFITS

DID YOU KNOW?

An HSA is a fully liquid account. You can withdraw funds at any time to pay for eligible health expenses (including dental and vision) for anyone in your household, even if they're not on your medical plan.

Your HSA is designed to keep your healthcare stable and manageable. It's an easy way of planning for the unexpected, a safety net for a significant unexpected medical bill.

Covenant Benefits is now offering a Covenant Value Plan that is an HSA eligible plan.

A WIN-WIN-WIN FOR YOUR TAXES.

Your contributions are tax deductible. Any funds you put in to your HSA are tax deductible to the annual limit set by the IRS. Plus, your earnings are tax exempt.

Your money grows tax-deferred. You don't pay taxes on the interest or earnings on the funds in your HSA.

Your withdrawals are tax free. As long as you use them for eligible expenses, even if you're retired. So if you use the funds in your HSA for qualified medical, vision, or dental bills you don't owe any tax on that money. At all. Ever.

Employer contributions are tax free to the employer and employee.

ALWAYS THERE.

Unlike a Flex Spending Account (FSA), an HSA is not a use it or lose it account. Any money left in your HSA at the end of the year is yours to use year after year after year. You can decide when to save and when to spend the funds in your HSA, as long as you keep a minimum balance of $10.

TRAVELS WITH YOU.

Because you own all the money in your HSA, it stays with you when you change jobs, change insurance plans, or retire.

MAX CONTRIBUTIONS FOR 2023:
$3,850 per year for an individual
$7,750 per year for a family
And an extra $1,000 if you're over age 55

If you don't have an HSA and qualify for one, you might be missing out.

Eligibility

To be eligible to have an HSA, you must be covered under an HSA-compatible high deductible health plan (HDHP). An HDHP generally requires that you pay for out of pocket medical expenses incurred (excluding certain preventative care expenses) until your deductible is met. Plan coverage kicks in after that.

Covenant Benefits is now offering an HSA-compatible health plan.

HSA-Compatible HDHP Amounts*

	Year	Self-only coverage	Family coverage
Minimum annual deductible	2022	$1,400	$2,800
	2023	$1,500	$3,000
Maximum out-of-pocket	2022	$7,050	$14,100
	2023	$7,500	$15,000

NOTE: Self-only coverage covers only an individual. Family coverage covers an individual and a spouse and/or one or more dependents.

In addition to being covered under an HSA-compatible HDHP, you

- cannot be covered by a non-HDHP (with limited exceptions),
- cannot be enrolled in Medicare, and
- cannot be eligible to be claimed as a dependent on another person's tax return.

HSA eligibility is determined as of the first day of each month.

Contributions

If you're eligible to contribute to an HSA for the entire year, you can contribute up to the annual statutory limit for the type of HDHP coverage you have (self-only or family). If you're age 55 or older, you can make an additional "catch up" contribution of up to $1,000. If you are not eligible the entire year, you can still contribute the maximum contribution amount if you remain HSA eligible for a 13-month "testing period." If you do not remain HSA eligible during the testing period, then the annual limit is prorated to the number of months that you are eligible.

HSA Contribution Limits*

Year	Self-only coverage	If age 55 or older	Family Coverage	If age 55 or older
2022	$3,650	44,650	$7,300	$8,300
2023	$3,850	$4,850	$7,750	$8,750

If both you and your spouse have family coverage and are HSA-eligible, one annual family contribution limit applies to both of you and may be split between your HSAs in any way you choose. For example, for 2022, you could contribute $3,650 to your HSA and your spouse could contribute $3,650 to his HSA, for a total of $7,300, the 2022 family contribution limit. Note that if both you and your spouse are each eligible for a catch-up contribution, the catch-up amounts cannot be combined into one HSA.

Contributions can be made in any amount throughout the year until your tax return due date (generally April 15) for that year, not to exceed your annual limit. Any contributions made on your behalf by your employer or anyone else are included in your one annual limit.

As long as you cannot be claimed as a dependent on another person's tax return, you can deduct HSA contributions made by yourself and your spouse (not those made by your employer).

Distributions

You will not have to pay income tax or penalty tax on the money withdrawn from your HSA for qualified medical expenses. Qualified medical expenses generally include most medical, dental, and vision care expenses not covered by insurance that are incurred by you, your spouse, or your dependents after your HSA is opened. IRS Publication 502, Medical and Dental Expenses, contains a partial list of qualified medical expenses.

HSA distributions that are not used for qualified medical expenses are subject to ordinary income tax and, if taken before age 65, a 20 percent penalty tax (unless the HSA assets are distributed after you become disabled or die).

You may want to visit with a competent tax advisor before making HSA contributions or taking HSA distributions.
