

today

2014 EDITION

IN COVENANT WORLD MISSION

Serving in Hard Places

Roy and Aleta Danforth serve together as Covenant missionaries in the areas of agriculture, community development, health, economic development, evangelism, and outreach to the Fulani people in Central African Republic (CAR).

The gospel is good news because the sacrificial death of Jesus Christ and his resurrection offers living hope to a lost and broken world. This good news is being proclaimed by Roy and Aleta Danforth in many ways, but they know they could not do what they are doing without the sacrificial giving of so many people and churches that support them in the United States.

The past year has not been an easy one for Roy and Aleta. Although the region they live in remained calm during the

Fun Fact: CEFA was started in 2010 with funds raised through FOWM (Friends of World Mission)

their community. They have many Fulani friends, a cattle herding people, who have had to flee the country for their own worst of the fighting in CAR, the toll was still taken on

Refugee camp in Cameroon

safety. They have no idea where many of their friends are or even if they are alive and safe. They recently learned of one refugee camp over an hour away in Cameroon with 8,000 people living in it. All the Fulani have left town and the Danforths now make frequent trips into Cameroon to visit and pray for these displaced people. They say the needs are so overwhelming and they ask for your prayers for these refugees, for their health, safety, and hope.

Roy and Aleta are working together with CEFA (Centre d'Experimentation et de Formation Agricole) in a food/seed production project as a response to the anticipated continuing food security problem in CAR. CEFA is already working in thirty-two villages where they help to provide training, tools, and higher yielding

Global mission. Local vision.

today

2014 EDITION

IN COVENANT WORLD MISSION

Serving in Hard Places

Roy and Aleta Danforth serve together as Covenant missionaries in the areas of agriculture, community development, health, economic development, evangelism, and outreach to the Fulani people in Central African Republic (CAR).

The gospel is good news because the sacrificial death of Jesus Christ and his resurrection offers living hope to a lost and broken world. This good news is being proclaimed by Roy and Aleta Danforth in many ways, but they know they could not do what they are doing without the sacrificial giving of so many people and churches that support them in the United States.

The past year has not been an easy one for Roy and Aleta. Although the region they live in remained calm during the

Fun Fact: CEFA was started in 2010 with funds raised through FOWM (Friends of World Mission)

their community. They have many Fulani friends, a cattle herding people, who have had to flee the country for their own

worst of the fighting in CAR, the toll was still taken on

Refugee camp in Cameroon

safety. They have no idea where many of their friends are or even if they are alive and safe. They recently learned of one refugee camp over an hour away in Cameroon with 8,000 people living in it. All the Fulani have left town and the Danforths now make frequent trips into Cameroon to visit and pray for these displaced people. They say the needs are so overwhelming and they ask for your prayers for these refugees, for their health, safety, and hope.

Roy and Aleta are working together with CEFA (Centre d'Experimentation et de Formation Agricole) in a food/seed production project as a response to the anticipated continuing food security problem in CAR. CEFA is already working in thirty-two villages where they help to provide training, tools, and higher yielding seeds so that people can successfully support themselves. They are excited that funds are already in place for tools and seeds but are concerned that transportation may be a problem as they are having to travel farther to not only reach the displaced Fulani, but also to expand their work to even more villages.

Global mission. Local vision.

Despite all the trials that they have seen this year, there have also been many sweet moments. In January they got their first taste of honey as a bee colony was ready to be moved to a larger hive. They have received support from the Covenant Cares Gift Registry and Covenant World Relief. Funds are also being raised through FOWM this year to help expand CEFA's programming by including the ability to teach animal husbandry. Everyone is excited that CEFA already has its first chicken house and they just received their first nine cows in February.

God is at work in CAR. Praise God for

Moving honeybees to a larger hive

The Bayaka people, traditionally a hunting tribe, are learning how to grow their own food at CEFA.

the ministry of the Danforths' and CEFA that allow the people in Central Africa to come in contact with the living God. Praise God for our brothers and sisters that are seeking to reflect the kingdom of God in their communities.

seeds so that people can successfully support themselves. They are excited that funds are already in place for tools and seeds but are concerned that transportation may be a problem as they are having to travel farther to not only reach the displaced Fulani, but also to expand their work to even more villages.

Despite all the trials that they have seen this year, there have also been many sweet moments. In January they got their first taste of honey as a bee colony was ready to be moved to a larger hive. They have received support from the Covenant Cares Gift Registry and Covenant World Relief. Funds are also being raised through FOWM this year to help expand CEFA's programming by including the ability to teach animal husbandry. Everyone is excited that CEFA already has its first chicken house and they just received their first nine cows in February.

God is at work in CAR. Praise God for

Moving honeybees to a larger hive

The Bayaka people, traditionally a hunting tribe, are learning how to grow their own food at CEFA.

the ministry of the Danforths' and CEFA that allow the people in Central Africa to come in contact with the living God. Praise God for our brothers and sisters that are seeking to reflect the kingdom of God in their communities.

Friends of World Mission (FOWM) provides support for leadership training, agriculture and development, medical work, church planting, construction, and much more. In 2013, Covenant World Mission was able to provide more than $248,365 to fund six mission projects requested by our missionaries and partner churches. From Thailand to Spain to Colombia and South Sudan, lives are being changed around the world because people like you are calling themselves a friend of world mission. You can become a Friend of World Mission today by signing up at: <https://www.covchurch.org/mission/projects/fowm/>

Friends of World Mission (FOWM) provides support for leadership training, agriculture and development, medical work, church planting, construction, and much more. In 2013, Covenant World Mission was able to provide more than $248,365 to fund six mission projects requested by our missionaries and partner churches. From Thailand to Spain to Colombia and South Sudan, lives are being changed around the world because people like you are calling themselves a friend of world mission. You can become a Friend of World Mission today by signing up at: <https://www.covchurch.org/mission/projects/fowm/>

Please consider supporting international mission today.

Web: CovChurch.org/mission
Email: world.mission@covchurch.org
Phone: (773) 784-3000

covenant world mission
A ministry of  The Evangelical Covenant Church

Please consider supporting international mission today.

Web: CovChurch.org/mission
Email: world.mission@covchurch.org
Phone: (773) 784-3000

covenant world mission
A ministry of  The Evangelical Covenant Church